

Jesus went to the town of Jericho.

Zacchaeus was the chief tax collector there.

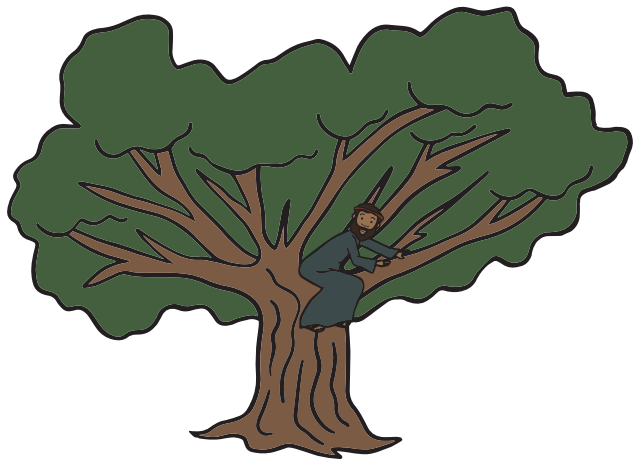

Zacchaeus had taken
money from people.
He loved money more than God.

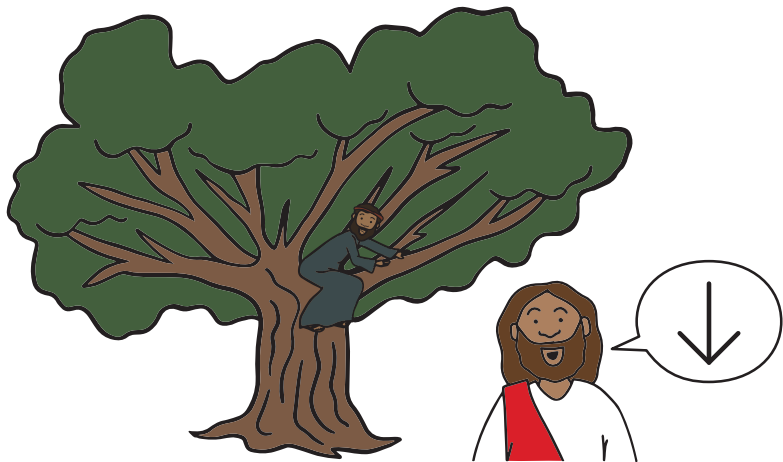

Zacchaeus wants to see Jesus,
but he is too short.

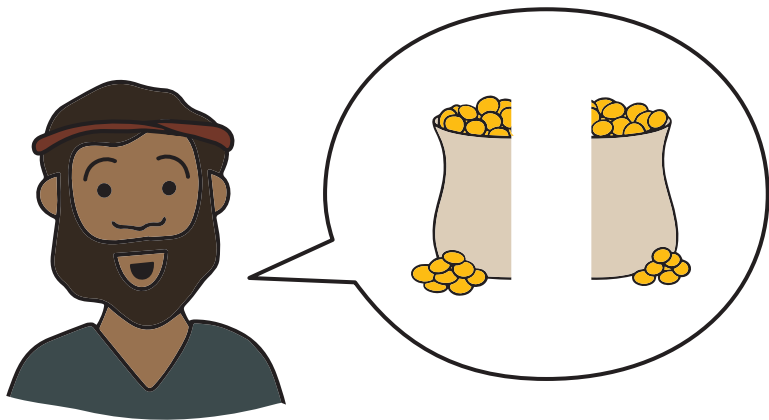

So, Zacchaeus runs
and climbs a tree since Jesus is coming that way.

When Jesus looks up at Zacchaeus.
Jesus says, “Zacchaeus! Come down!
I am coming to your house today!”

Zacchaeus looks up at Jesus and says, “Lord, I will give half of all of my wealth to the poor.”

Zacchaeus is sorry that he loved money more than God.

He confesses to Jesus
the sin he had done.

Jesus generously forgives Zacchaeus.
