

Esther | Week 4

1. What are we consumed by? What are we obsessed with? What are we singularly focused on? What are we saving our money for? What do we want more than anything? (Goal is to start to identify things our students are fixated on)
  - Our obsessions are blinding us from good things - can you start to see what things you're missing in your singular pursuit of other things?
2. Haman's friends fed his entitlement and weaknesses - do you have moments where you know a friend has cared about you because of their willingness to be honest with you (even if it initially hurt your feelings?)
  - Does our small group model this well?
3. What's your natural response after successes or accomplishments in your life?
  - Do you usually 'ride the wave' and begin to feel entitled to more approval and affirmation?
  - Do you humble yourself after success? How?
