

Situation #3

At school, you made fun of a new kid in your class and your teacher heard you, even though the student didn't.

Result #1

The teacher gave you detention and made you go apologize to the new student even though the student didn't hear you.

Result #2

The teacher had you be her helper and show the new student around, which is normally the duty of a student who has been on his/her best behavior.

Situation #3

At school, you made fun of a new kid in your class and your teacher heard you, even though the student didn't.

Result #1

The teacher gave you detention and made you go apologize to the new student even though the student didn't hear you.

Result #2

The teacher had you be her helper and show the new student around, which is normally the duty of a student who has been on his/her best behavior.

Situation #3

At school, you made fun of a new kid in your class and your teacher heard you, even though the student didn't.

Result #1

The teacher gave you detention and made you go apologize to the new student even though the student didn't hear you.

Result #2

The teacher had you be her helper and show the new student around, which is normally the duty of a student who has been on his/her best behavior.