

Situations Guide

1. You go out to dinner with your friend's family. You pray silently to yourself before eating. Your friend's little brother asks why you did that. You tell him because you love Jesus and want to thank him for what He's given you. [obeying]
2. You and your brother are at the park playing. Your brother makes fun of another kid. You don't think it was nice of him to say what he did, but you do not say anything and go on playing. [not obeying]
3. Your friend's Grandpa is really sick. He tells you that he is afraid of his Grandpa dying. You tell him that Jesus loves him and is with him. He can trust in Jesus to help him and comfort him. [obeying]
4. Your friend down the street asks you to spend the night on Saturday night. You tell them you can, but that you will need to go to church on Sunday morning. You invite your friend to go also. Your friend asks why you go to church, and you tell them because your mom makes you. [not obeying]
5. You make a new friend at the beginning of the school year. You have gone to her house many times to play, but have never talked to her about Jesus. [not obeying]
6. You are with some friends after school playing. Your friends start picking on a girl who walks by. You stand up for the girl by telling your friends that Jesus loves this girl and he wants them to love her also. [obeying]
7. A boy is sitting next to you at lunch. Before eating, you bow your head and pray. He asks you why you did that, and you answer, "I don't know." [not obeying]
